

I am against lifting the restrictions on ownership of radio and television stations. I think that the more diversity of ownership the higher the quality of journalism. A multitude of owners also gives the public a better opportunity to hear different points of view on controversial subjects. Restricting media monopolies contributes to the free flow of ideas basic to a democracy.